One and only question: Write one or more sections of code that you think are extremely interesting. Explain what the code does. Explain why the code is so interesting to you. What else can the code be used for? The code you present should occupy no more space than the rest of this page.